are: a blacksmith shop, a machine shop, a locksmith shop, an electrical workshop, a paint shop and a whitesmith shop, where all equipment essential to the enterprise is constructed. Approximately 300 skilled workers, 100 laborers and 200 apprentices are employed in these central workshops, which are under the direction of a certain Major Nikolac, a former mason. Smaller workshops are also located in various areas along the coast.

3. At the present time, the Ivolav Military Construction Enterprise reportedly comprises seven separate branches located in the following areas:
 - a. Main Division, located in Split, under the direction of Major Vladimir Broeg, is responsible for all offices on the various islands with the exception of Korcula Island. This division, in turn, includes the following subdivisions:
 - (1) Compound of buildings with headquarters in Vis, under the direction of technician Danilo Pantelic. This subdivision is responsible for the construction of military fortifications and installations;
 - (2) Compound of buildings in Lastovo, which are nearing completion. There are approximately 100 workers on the island under the direction of technician Jaksa Lusic;
 - (3) Compound of buildings on Solta Island;
 - (4) Compound of buildings on Mljet Island;
 - (5) Compound of buildings on Velike Drvenik and Mali Drvenik;
 - (6) In addition to these compounds located on the stated islands, the Main Division of Ivolav also controls construction on the coast. One of the most important of these branches is the compound of buildings at Kardeljevo, which is allegedly constructing a military depot on the coast, erecting fortifications and officers' quarters in the port and constructing roads in the area. The head of this compound, which employs approximately 400 workers, is a certain technician by the name of Martinis; and
 - (7) The compounds of buildings at Cape Crni and Skoci Brdo Devojka, which have both been completed.
 - ub. The second division of the Ivolav Military Construction Enterprise also has its headquarters in Split. The chief of this division, one of whose present jobs is the enlargement of the Visko Krstulovic Shipyard, is Lieutenant Pero Ljubojevic.
 - c. The third division of the Enterprise has its headquarters in Korcula. This division has reportedly completed work on the Domince Shipyard and is now in the process of erecting dwellings for the workers in the area.
 - d. The fourth division of Ivolav, which has its headquarters in Trogir and employs approximately 350 workers, is under the direction of a certain engineer by the name of Soda. This division has jurisdiction over the following subdivisions:
 - (1) Compound of buildings at Trogir, where a hotel and an unspecified number of dwellings for workers are under construction;
 - (2) Compound of buildings at Divulje under the direction of a certain technician by the name of Majer, where a naval base is under construction; and
 - (3) Compound of buildings at Giovo, where the Mosor Shipyard is being enlarged.

- e. The fifth division of Ivolav, which has its headquarters in Split, is under the direction of Captain Kovacevic. This division is in charge of the construction of officers' quarters near the "Hajduk" football field in Split. These quarters will allegedly comprise 25 four-story buildings, each of which will contain ten apartments.
- f. The sixth division of Ivolav, which has its headquarters in Sinj, is under the direction of Captain Mercop. This division also does minor construction work for the Visko Krstulovic Shipyard; and
- g. The seventh division with headquarters in Sibenik, under the direction of Lieutenant Petar Krstulovic. This branch is constructing fortifications along the coast in the Sibenik-Zadar area, and military defenses in Vodice.
